ii. Kindness of the Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم)

Once the Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) went out on a journey along with some of his companions. Birds were singing and chirping joyfully. One of the companions of the Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) saw a nest in a bush. It was the nest of sparrows and there were two sparrow chicks in it. He picked up the young sparrow. All at once the sparrows came crying and began to fly over his head. The Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) asked his companion why the sparrows were circling over his head. He told the Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) that he had removed their young ones from their nest.

The Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) was greatly moved. He (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) felt sorry for the poor little birds and advised his companion to put back the baby sparrow in its nest at once, which he did. The sparrows felt happy and cried no more.

The Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) was kind and affectionate not only to human beings but also to all creatures of the universe. For this very reason Allah Almighty was pleased to bestow upon him (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) the title of 'Benefactor of all the worlds.'

The Rasool (صلی اللہ علیہ وآلہ وسلم) also said, "Allah will not be kind to him who is not kind to others."

iv. Courtesy

Courtesy means excellence of manners or polite behaviour. It, of course, springs from good breeding and kindness of heart. A courteous man is pleasant and polite to everybody. He observes good manner on all occasions and always respects the feelings of others.

When people meet, they greet one another saying 'good morning' or 'good evening' according to the time of the day. Muslims greet one another, saying 'Asslam-o-Alaikum', and they often ask about each other's health and well being. A Muslim greeting is a kind of wish, a prayer for mutual happiness, peace and security. The Holy Quran lays stress on this form of greeting in sura Al-Noor verse 61:

If you know two persons who happen to be strangers, it is your duty to introduce them to each other. If both are men, you introduce the younger to the older: "Please meet my elder brother" If both are women, but one married and the other single. You introduce the latter to the former. If one is a man and the other a woman, it goes without saying that you introduce the man to the woman, and not the other way round. You pronounce both names clearly if they are males and the two persons shake hands, saying "How do you do?"

Good manners demand that you make no attempt to jump the queue. In a crowded bus, if you are physically fit, you give up your seat to an elderly person or to someone who is blind, disabled or sick. You have to say 'Thank You' to those who are good to you. Courtesy really makes everyday life more pleasant, more friendly and more meaningful.
